

Heribert Stumpf

Executive Vice President, Chief Financial Officer, Siemens Corporation
Chief Financial Officer , Dresser-Rand, part of Siemens Power and Gas Division

Biography

Heribert Stumpf was named Chief Financial Officer of Siemens Corporation in January 2017, in addition to his role as Chief Financial Officer of the Dresser-Rand business.

Prior to these positions, he was with Siemens since 1982. Mr. Stumpf served as the CFO for the global Siemens Building Technologies Division (2008 -2014). There, he was responsible for the Division's financial and business administration matters.

Mr. Stumpf has held a wide range of management positions with Siemens in Germany, the US and Switzerland; including the CFO of Siemens Corporation in New York (2005- 2008), the CEO of the Infrastructure Logistics Division in Arlington, Texas (2001-2005) and the CFO of the Siemens Postal Automation Business Unit in Constance, Germany (1999 -2001). Earlier in his career he had a variety of roles in accounting, business analysis and information technology in several divisions within Siemens.

Mr. Stumpf is a graduate of Siemens' Financial Management Trainee Program and holds a Master of Business Administration from Mercer University. He serves on the board of the Siemens Foundation.